

T.H.E. Rabbit Resource is looking for adoptive and foster homes for our rescued bunnies.

There is a desperate need for new fosterers.

This is Maggie. She came to T.H.E. Rabbit Resource from a shelter-based cruelty investigation. She was emaciated; her feet were bloody and sore.

Maggie is one of the lucky ones. Now she has a loving home.

Maggie's new owner writes:

I thought you'd enjoy seeing how great Maggie looks! She really is a ham. What a face. She is also pictured with Nick. They really love each other. Nick often sleeps draped over Mag's back - and she doesn't mind at all!

She loves to be brushed. She jumps from the chair to the table and waits to be brushed. Look how great her feet look - and the butt is cute, too!

T.H.E. Rabbit Resource is an all-volunteer, non-profit organization with two primary goals:

1. To rescue abandoned rabbits, foster, provide veterinary care, spay/neuter and find permanent homes for them, and
2. To educate the public and assist humane societies through publications on rabbit care, telephone and on-line consultations, and classes.
